COVID-19: My Roommate has COVID symptoms or is a COVID contact – updated 2/26/21

What does it mean for me if my roommate has COVID symptoms, or is a contact?

We want to provide information and reassurance at this time. Remember, this is not unusual during a pandemic. We test all students who are COVID contacts or who have symptoms that suggest COVID in order to make a diagnosis as soon as possible and initiate a plan swiftly to control the spread of virus.

Here is important information:

1. Your roommate may or may not test positive for COVID. Testing was done and your roommate will be quarantined in another dorm for a period of time to be determined by their situation.
2. It may take a couple of hours before your roommate is moved to the quarantine dorm. If possible during this time, wait elsewhere. If that's not possible, be sure that you both wear your masks and maintain 6 feet of distance from one another. Frequent handwashing and wiping down shared surfaces are advised.
3. If your roommate was tested for symptoms and the result is negative, they may return to your room as soon as test results are known.
If your roommate was a COVID contact, they will remain in quarantine and tested again on approximately day 7. They will be released back to the dorm after receiving negative test results.
4. While your roommate is in quarantine and waiting for test results you do not need to quarantine in your room. You do still need to wear your mask, maintain social distance, wash hands frequently and wipe down shared surfaces. You are not considered a contact unless your roommate's test result is positive. You should observe for signs and symptoms of illness and be in touch with Bergeron Wellness immediately if you feel ill.
5. If your roommate tests positive for COVID, they will be moved to an isolation dorm for a full 10 days. You will be contacted by Bergeron Wellness staff and questioned about contact that you may have had with your roommate in the 2 days prior to their test. If you are determined to be a contact, you will receive additional information regarding testing and quarantining. If you hear about your roommate's positive test result prior to hearing from staff at Bergeron Wellness, please stay put in your dorm with the door closed until our call. Wear your mask and maintain 6 ft. of distance from others if you need to use shared space like a kitchen or bathroom (wipe down shared surfaces).
6. If your roommate tests positive you may also be notified by the Bergeron Wellness Center for additional details about your recent contact. Please answer your phone and help the BWC with their important task of contact tracing.
7. If you have had COVID yourself in the past 90 days and you are identified as a new close contact:
 - If you do not have any symptoms of illness, you are not required to quarantine.
 - If you do have symptoms of illness, you'll need to isolate for 10 days.If more than 90 days have passed since your COVID diagnosis, the usual testing/quarantine rules apply. Your entire SMC community is relying on your honesty in providing accurate information to protect us all.
8. If you have received the complete COVID vaccine series you are not considered a contact, therefore you do not need to quarantine unless you become symptomatic.
9. Staff at Bergeron Wellness Center are available for questions if needed. Call 802-654-2234.
10. Counselors are available to support you by Zoom or phone call during this time. You can call 802-654-2234 to schedule an appointment.
