

Biology major tells of Sea Semester on WDEV

Saint Michael's College senior biology major Nadia Racz of Roxbury, CT, was a guest by phone on February 16 with host Ric Cengeri of radio station WDEV in Waterbury for his daily morning call-in show, Vermont Viewpoint, telling about her experience first semester doing a Sea Semester on a ship to study coral reefs. Here's the introduction from the WDEV website mentioning Nadia along with other topics on that day's show: "We open the show learning about the work of the Vermont Economic Development Authority Next, we'll hear about the Children's Literacy Foundation . . . After that, [two guests addressing] the home contractor registry bill . . . And we finish by speaking with a St. Michael's College student who recently spent a semester doing coral reef research in the Caribbean." The interview with Nadia comes at the 1:05 mark of this audio file at the link below.

Listen to WDEV interview with Nadia Racz>>>

VERMONT VIEWPOINT
with Ric Cengeri